MR ANDREW BROWN BEd (Hons), MSSc, FCIEA, FColIT, FRSA, FCCT (TEACHING STAFF REPRESENTATIVE)

Mr Brown was a former Head of Drama at Ballymena Academy and is currently a Principal Lecturer in Teacher Education, Academic Head of Arts & Humanities, Head of the BEd Primary degree and a member of the Academic Leadership Team in Stranmillis University College. He has wide experience of strategic leadership and policy work and has been a representative on various bodies locally and nationally, including the Council of the NFER, the Executive Committee of the North of England Education Conference, the Council of the National Literacy Association, the Irish Congress of Trade Unions, the TUC, and the Executive Committee of Unions 21.

As Student President, he was previously a Governor of Stranmillis University College and has sat on the Court of the University of Ulster, was Vice-Chair of the N. Ireland Teachers' Council and a member of the Department of Education's Strategic Advisory Group on post-primary schooling. As a member of the Teachers' Negotiating Committee and several high profile working groups, Mr Brown has co-authored various schemes for teachers. In 2007, he became the youngest N. Ireland President, and in 2010 the youngest National President in the 127-year history of the Association of Teachers & Lecturers.

Mr Brown is active in the church and local community: he has sat on the Board of Antrim Borough Council's Local Strategy Partnership, on the Board of Directors of the Ulster Association of Youth Drama, and is Chair of the Board of Governors of Broughshane Primary School.

A committed Christian, he was thrilled in 2006 to have been ordained as a Ruling Elder in 2nd Broughshane Presbyterian Church and to have been a long-serving member of the Youth Board of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland. He now sits on the PCI's Council for Church in Society, holds the Chair of its State Education Committee and represents the denomination on the Executive of the Transferor Representatives' Council.

In March 2017, Mr Brown was appointed as a Director of the newly-formed Controlled Schools' Support Council and, in May, as the Council's Vice-Chairperson. In June 2018 he was elected a Founding Fellow of the Chartered College of Teaching.

Mr Brown is currently undertaking a PhD with Lancaster University in Education & Social Justice. He was appointed to the Governing Body as Teaching Staff Representative from 4 November 2014 and will serve as a member until 3 November 2018.

DR ANNE HEASLETT, BA (HONS) MA DPHIL MSC FRSA

Principal, Stranmillis University College

For the past 20 years Dr Heaslett has held senior leadership roles within further and higher education in Northern Ireland. This has involved leading organisations through periods of significant change but she has also retained a passionate commitment to collaborative learning and community engagement.

As Principal of Stranmillis University College, she has played a significant role in leading the development of major projects involving engagement with the community and key stakeholders to support the delivery of a more dynamic and responsive educational provision. This has included forming a collaborative partnership with St Mary's University College which has attracted funding in excess of £4million to support the delivery of professional development programmes for teachers in order to address critical educational issues. Such projects are able to demonstrate a positive impact on learning communities across the Province.

Diversifying income streams in response to the needs of key stakeholders has been a major theme of her leadership over the past five years at Stranmillis. This has involved the development of a significant profile in the provision of lifelong learning and continuing professional development.
