

Transcript

Fiona - Lesson 13, Audio 2

Play 'Fiona - Lesson 13, Audio 2' or read this transcript during
'Things Are Heating Up!' lesson plenary.

Fiona

I never thought I would say this, but maybe I was wrong. Honestly, I never say this kind of stuff. (pause) I think, you know, it's normal to argue. It's normal to not agree with every single person. Sometimes, I totally disagree with what Mum has to say, but I don't let it bother me.

Heck no! I want to be in that woman's good books for as long as possible! I should really do the same with Claire. If we disagree, I shouldn't let any friction get between us. I should take a deep breath, let her have her moment, and talk calmly to her. I didn't really realise how down she was about it all. I suppose that's always the way - you can never really tell how someone is truly feeling, and should be kind and accepting to everyone no matter what. Okay. Enough of the sopiness. Just remember its okay to be wrong sometimes (...although you must remember, that I'm rarely, ever, wrong!)