Nosnibor

So you've made it to the end! Well done, congratulations - not many do!

We've been on this journey together for a while now...we've seen how sometimes we think we are fine on our own. Just look at Betty - she thought she was the best, that nobody could ever be as good at her at anything. But what did she find? That actually, sometimes, it is impossible to overcome challenges on our own...even when we think we can. But when we work together, we see that we are stronger! You see, other people can sometimes make up for the things we don't have. It's so important that we remember this! We need to work together because sometimes we are better together! We need other people to help us, we need to be fair, and we need to listen to other people's ideas.

Congratulations on making it to the end of your own Zoomanji!
