

In the Jungle

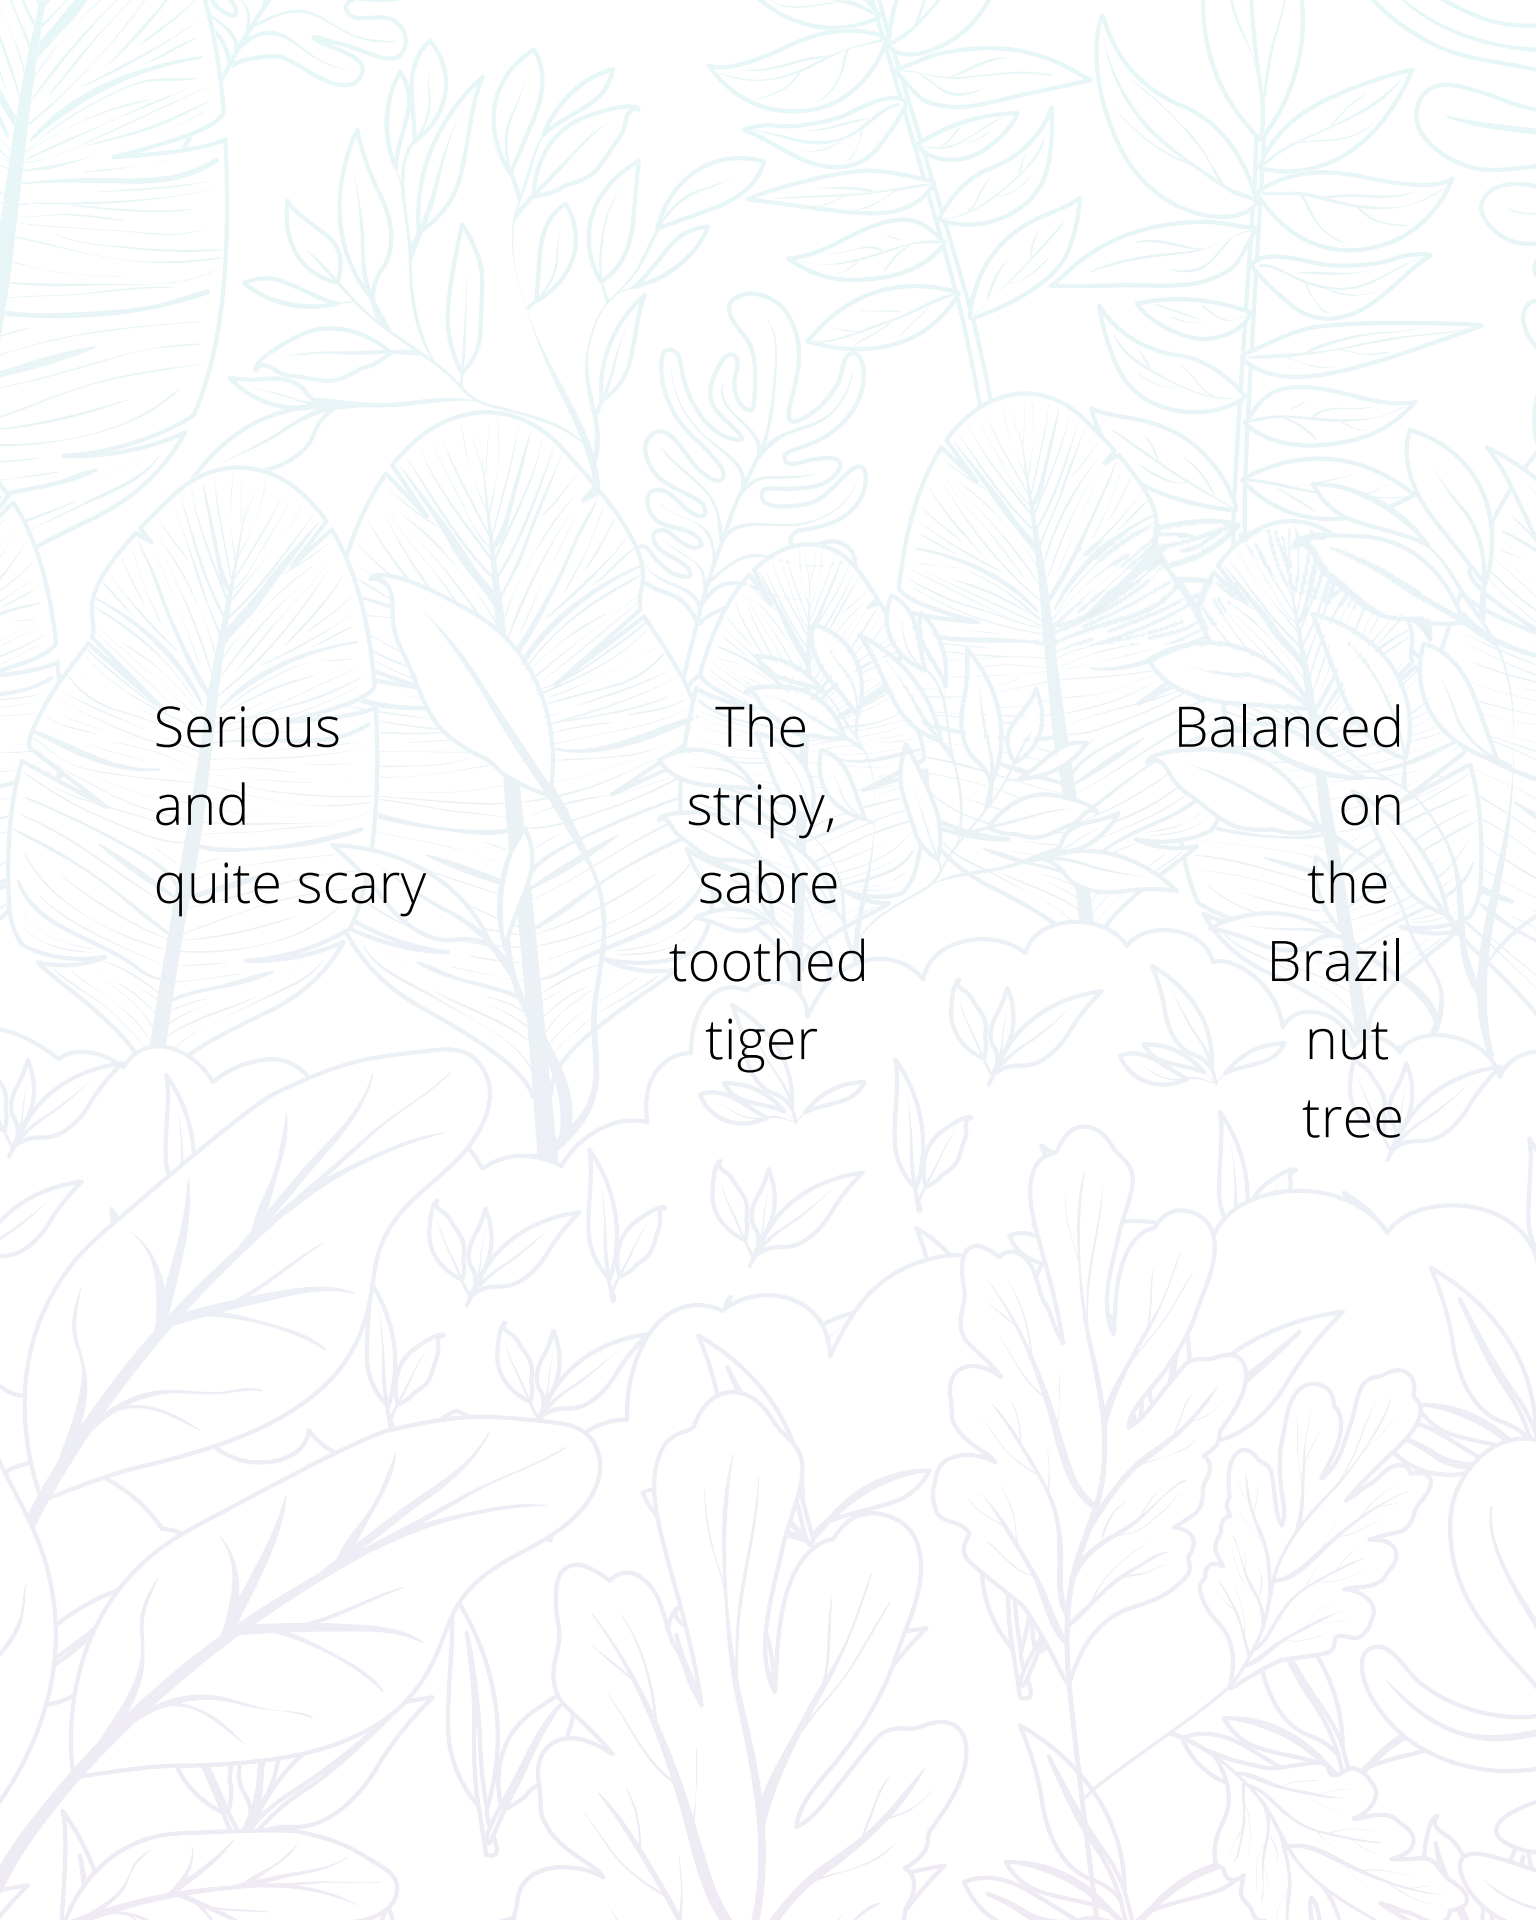

Hannah Millar

Quickly,
quietly
the cunning Komodo dragon
climbed the Kapok tree.

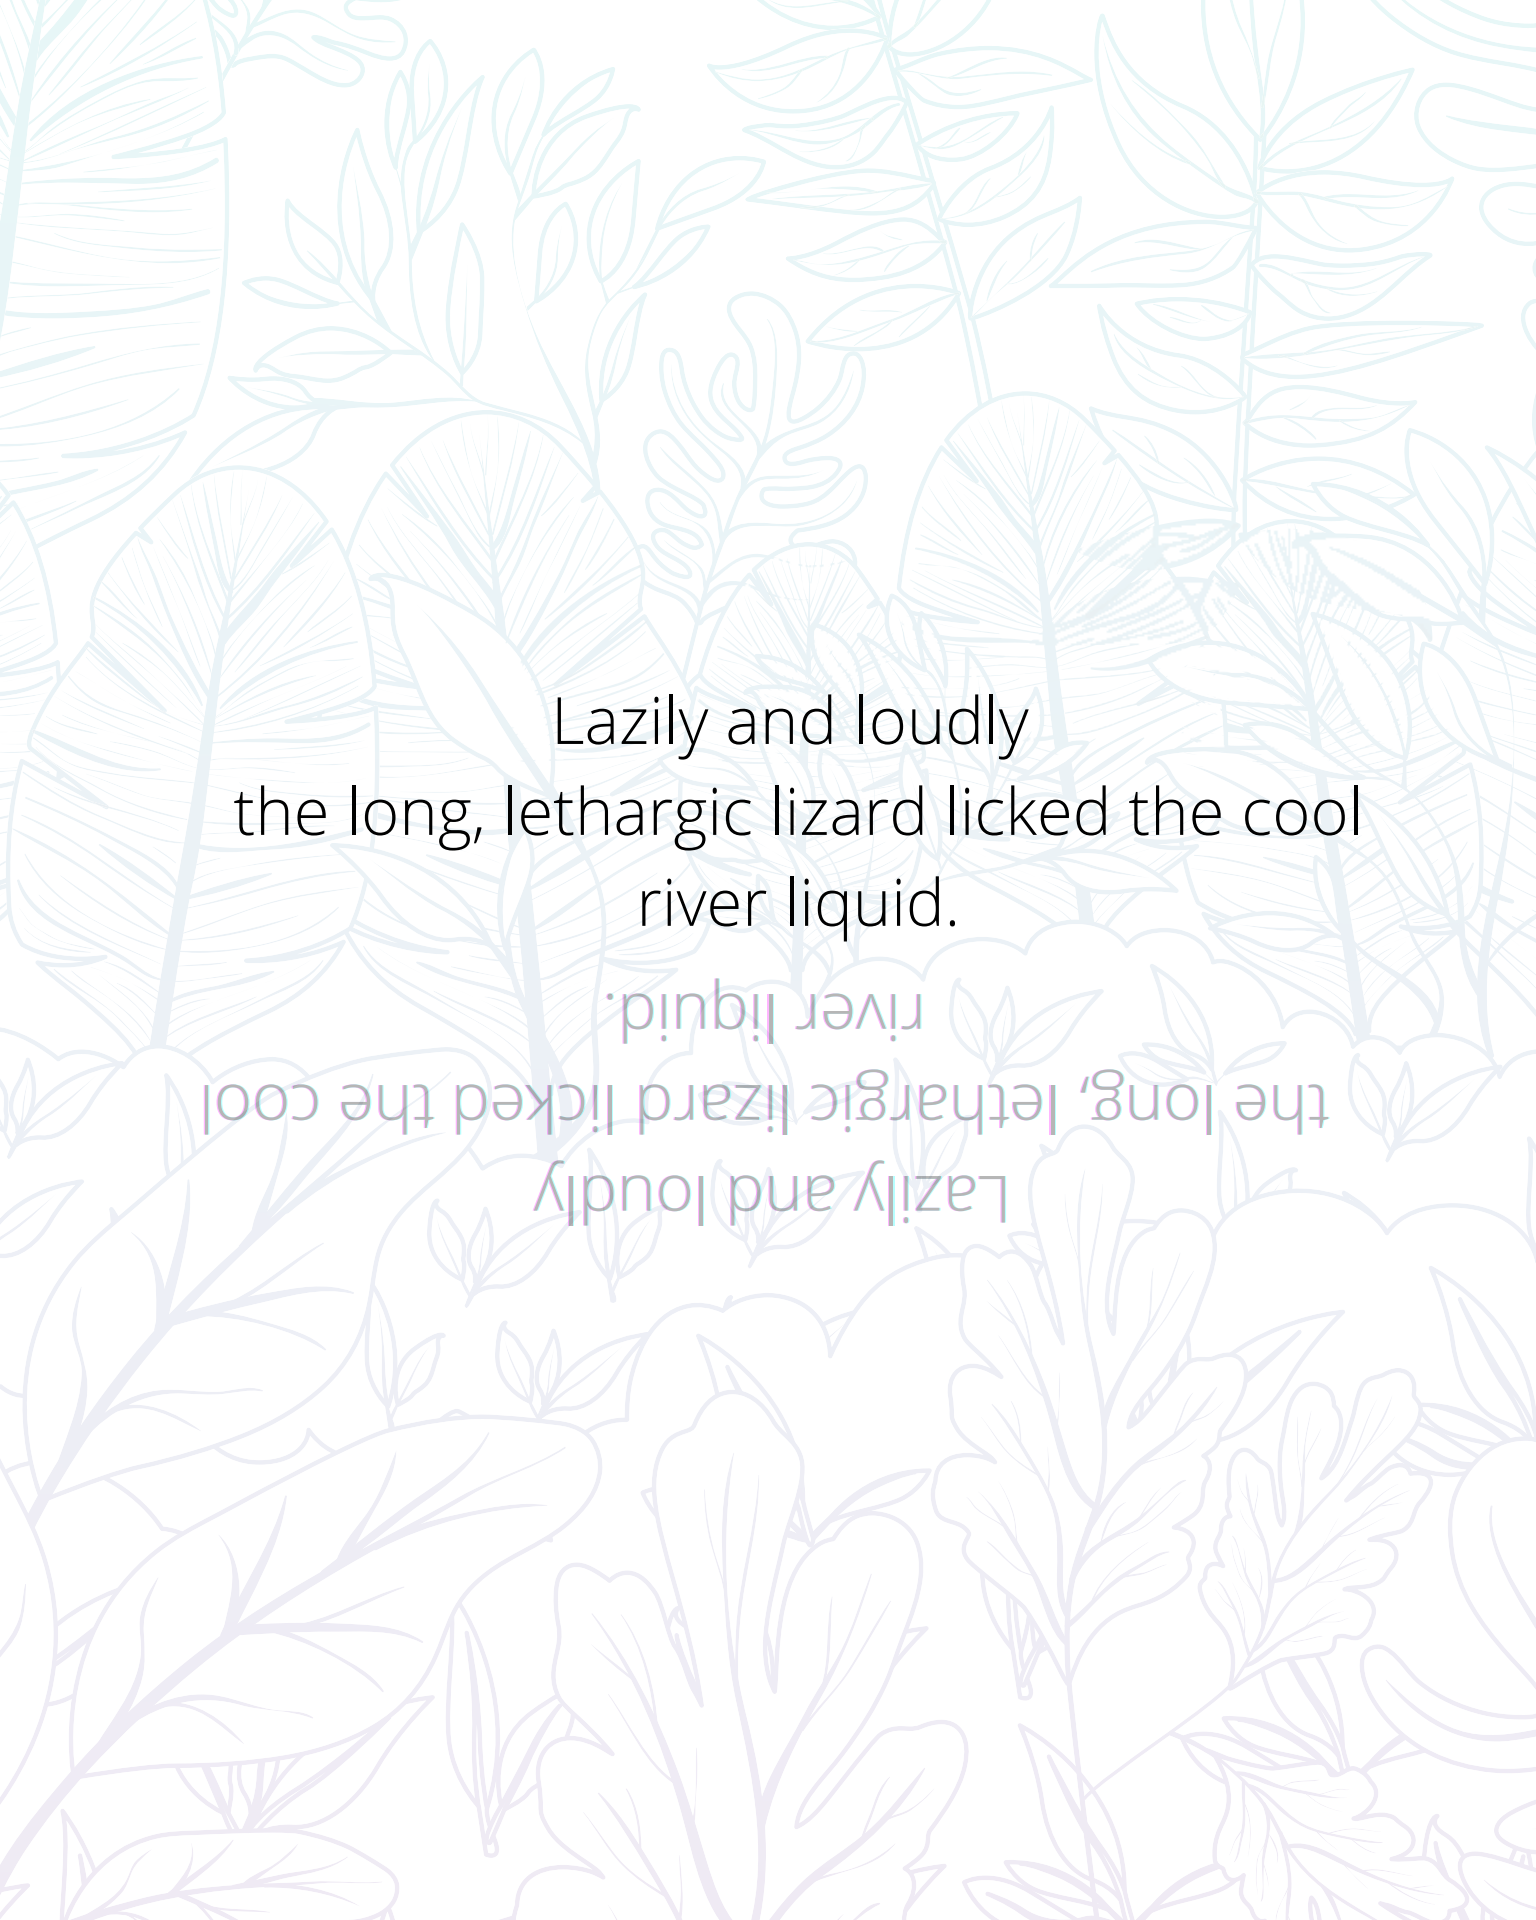

Zig zagging and zipping along the zany zebra pranced and danced by the Zambezi

Serious
and quite scary

The
stripy,
sabre
toothed
tiger

Balanced
on the Brazil
nut tree

Lazily and loudly
the long, lethargic lizard licked the cool river liquid.

Lazily and loudly
the long, lethargic lizard licked the cool
river liquid.

Browling and barking
the bumbling big brown bear bounced
over the rickety rocks.

Softly,

silently

the

slimy snake

slithered

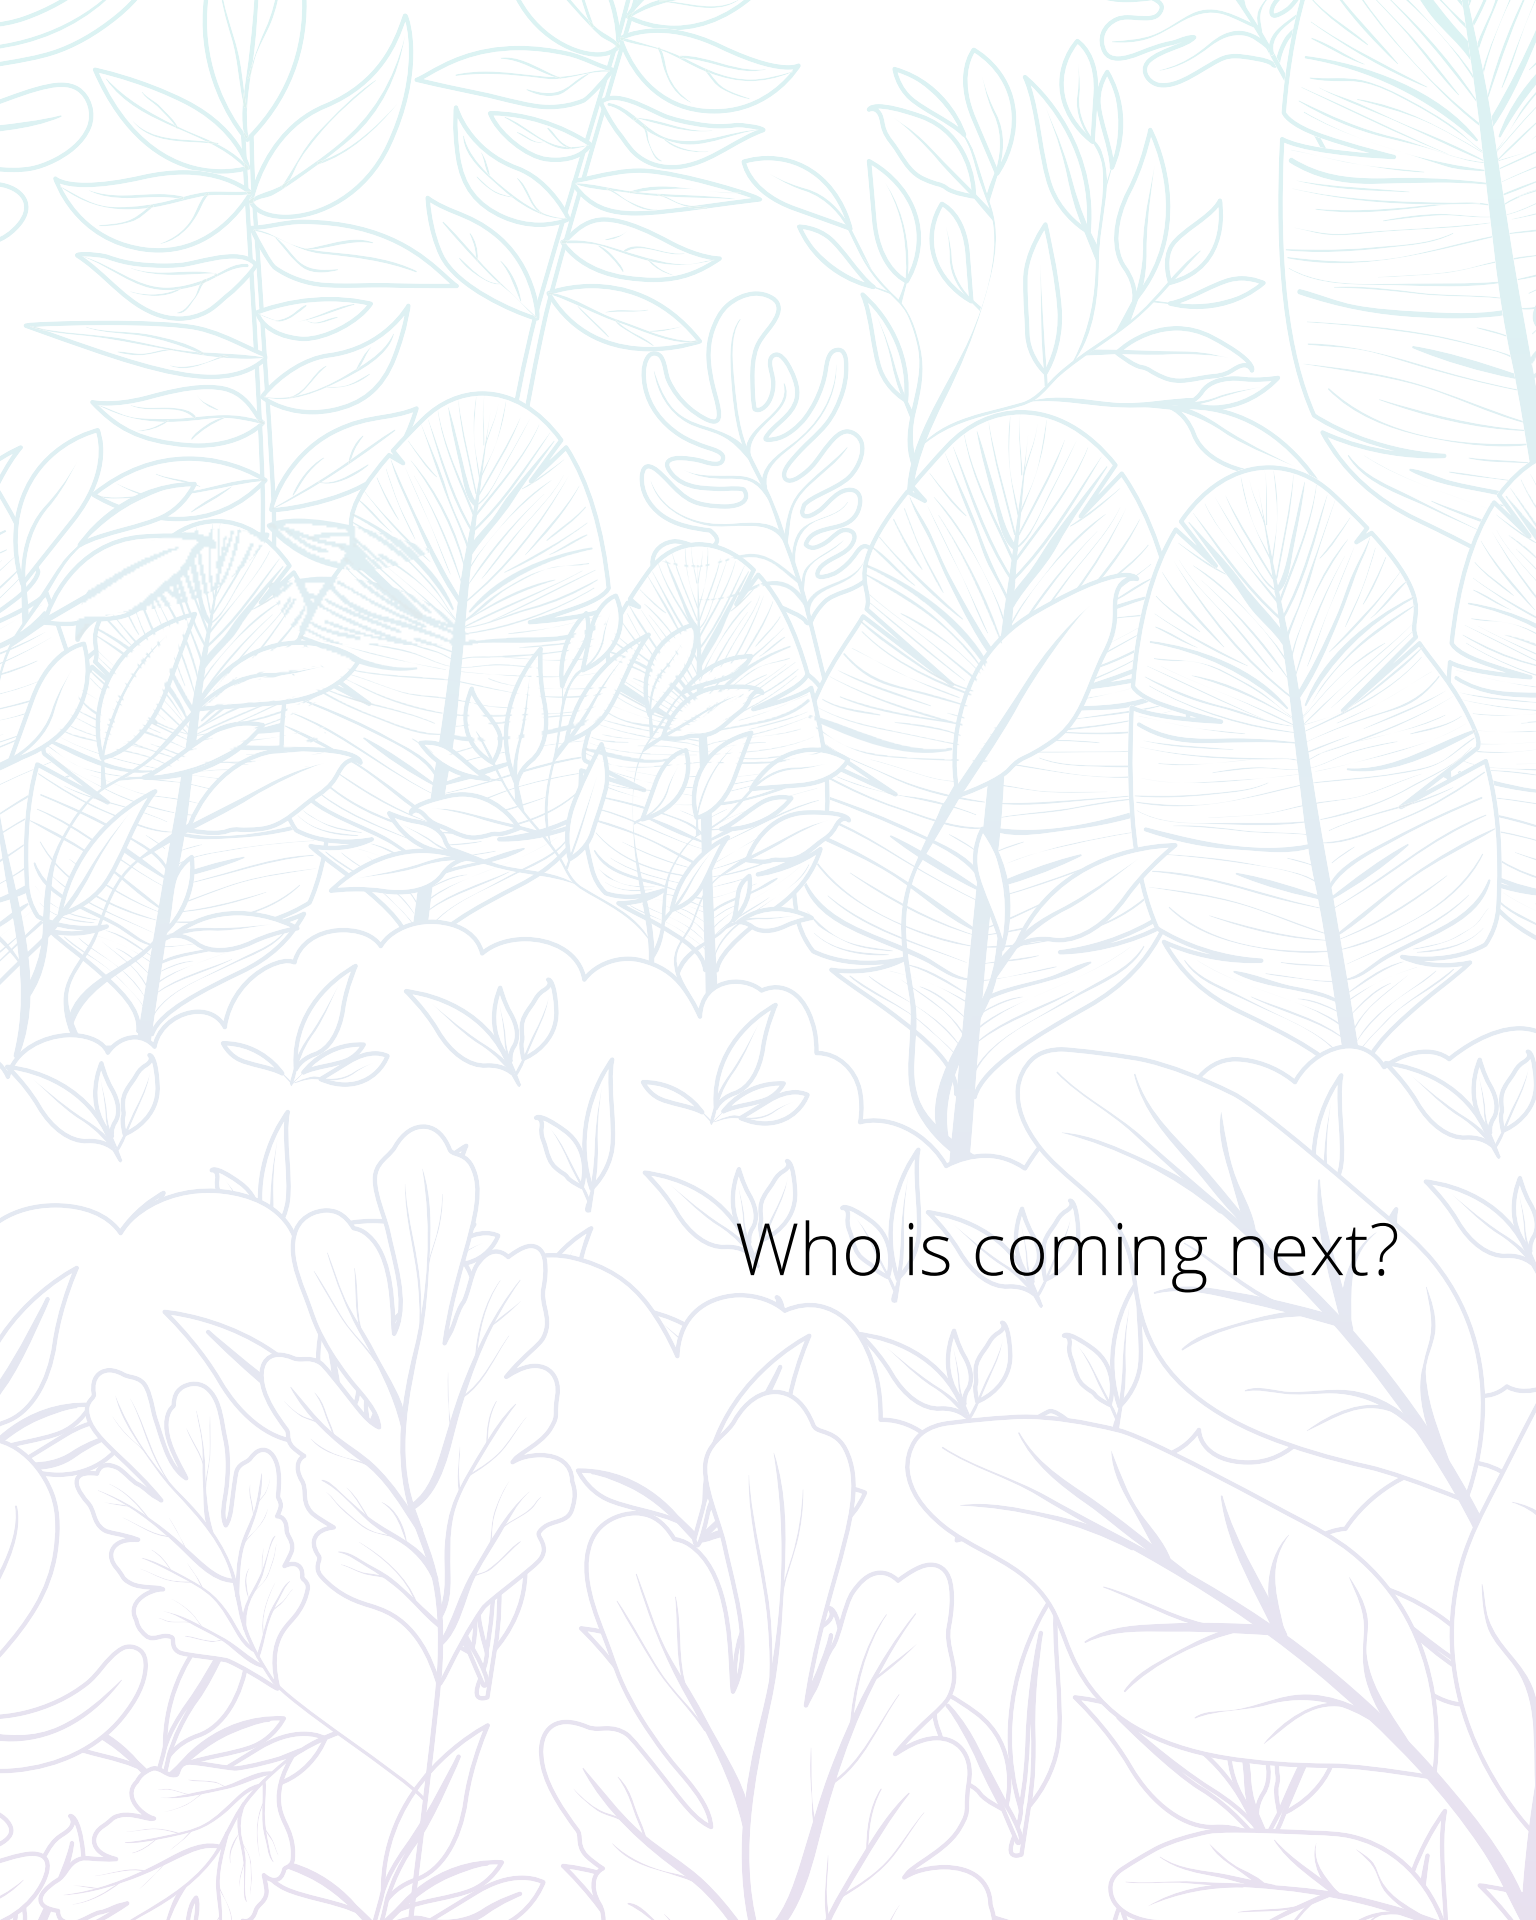

over

the searing

soft sand.

Suddenly there was silence.
Waiting, watching.

Who is coming next?