

Jamie is playing with a football when an older child comes and takes it off him.

Nobody will play with Sally, even when she has asked to be included in some games.

Somebody called Alice stupid because she did not get any of her spellings correct.

Everyone is talking about a new game on their iPads, but Sophie does not have one.

Max has been invited to a football birthday party, but he doesn't like football and can't play.

Everyone is excited about the running race at Sports Day, but Lucy has a sore leg and can't take part.

Alfie spent lots of time creating a lovely drawing and someone has scribbled all over it.

Alex's friends are whispering and leaving her out.

Ollie is being kicked and called names in the playground.

